Introduction

The Purpose Of This Notice

This document will provide you with an understanding as to what kind of information we collect in connection with our products and services and how we will process and use this information. We describe how we collect, use, share, retain and safeguard personal data.

Insurance is the pooling and sharing of risk in order to provide protection against a possible eventuality. In order to arrange insurance contracts some information, including your personal data, needs to be shared between different insurance market participants. This Notice is designed to help you understand how insurance market participants process your personal data throughout the insurance lifecycle.

This Notice also sets out your Individual Rights in relation to your personal data, which includes your entitlement to know what data is held about you, how this data is processed, and how you can place restrictions on the use of your data. You can exercise your rights by contacting us using the details set out in the How To Contact Us section.

Definitions

- We, us or our refers to not only Hallett Independent Ltd. as an insurance intermediary, yet to all relevant insurance market participants.
- You or your refers to the individual whose personal data (may be / is being) processed by an insurance market participant. You is a term that may refer to the policyholder, beneficiary, claimant or other person involved in a claim.
- Other terms in bold hold specific meanings. Those meanings can be found in the Glossary.

Key Details

Hallett Independent Limited is authorised and regulated by the Financial Conduct Authority (FCA).

Our Financial Services Register number is: 310908.

Our Registered Office is: Asset House, 7-9 Quay Street Lymington SO41 3AS (Company No 04407168).

Policy Revision date: May 2018

The Data We May Collect About You

Personal data is information relating to an identified or identifiable natural person. In order for us to arrange insurance quotes, administer insurance policies, or handle any claims or complaints, we will need to collect and process personal data about you. We may also collect your personal data where you request information about our services and products, events, or campaigns.

We may need to additionally collect personal data relating to others in order to arrange and administer your insurance. In most circumstances, you will provide us with this information. Where you disclose the personal data of others, you must ensure you are entitled to do so.

The types of personal data that are processed, either directly by Hallett Independent and/or by authorised third parties with whom we conduct our business activities, may include:

TYPES OF PERSONAL DATA	DETAILS
Individual Details	Name, address, other contact details (e.g. email and telephone numbers), gender, marital status, age and/or date of birth, nationality, employer, job title and employment history, qualifications, and family details (e.g. named family members and their relationship to you). Administration details, such as allocated passwords to access sensitive electronic documents, may also be stored.
Identification Details	Identification numbers issued by government bodies or agencies (e.g. national insurance number, passport number, tax identification number, and driving license reference). Online identifiers (e.g. IP addresses and cookies).
Financial Information	Bank account or payment card details, income or other financial information.
Risk Details	Information about you which we need to collect in order to assess the risk to be insured and provide a quote. This may include data relating to your physical or mental health, details of criminal convictions or offences, or other special categories of personal data .
Policy Information	Information about the quotes you receive and policies you take out.
Anti-Fraud Data	Credit history, credit score, financial sanctions and criminal offences, and information received from various anti-fraud databases relating to you.
Previous and Current Claims	Information about historic and existing claims (including under other unrelated insurances), which may include data relating to your health, criminal convictions, or other special categories of personal data .
Special Categories of Personal Data	Certain categories of personal data have additional safeguards and protection under the GDPR . These categories are health, criminal convictions and offences, racial or ethnic origin, political opinions, religious or philosophical beliefs, trade union membership, genetic and biometric data, or data relating to sexual orientation.

Collecting your Personal Data

Data Sources

You might provide us with personal data when completing online quote or contact forms, when you contact us via the telephone, when writing to us directly by email or postal correspondence, or where you return a completed proposal form, declaration, or similar document in relation to your insurance.

We will collect your personal data when you visit our website, where we will collect your unique online electronic identifier; this is commonly known as an IP address. We may employ website analytics to automatically gather certain statistical information such as the number and frequency of visitors and their IP addresses. This information helps us to measure how individuals use the website and our services, so that we can continually improve them.

We will also collect electronic personal data when you first visit our website and may place a small file via your web browser, commonly known as a cookie, on your local computer. Cookies are used to identify visitors and to simplify accessibility, and to monitor visitor behaviour when viewing website content, navigating and using features of our website. Cookies contain information that can be later read by a web server in the domain that had issued the cookie to you, yet cannot be used to run programs or deliver viruses to your computer.

We may additionally collect your personal data from various sources, including:

- Your family members, employer, colleagues or representative;
- Other insurance market participants;
- Credit reference agencies;
- Anti-fraud databases, sanctions lists, court judgements and other databases;
- Government agencies such as the DVLA and HMRC;
- Public databases such as the electoral register and Companies House;
- Pre-populated account and contact details as a result of interacting with our social media profiles; or
- In the event of a claim, third parties including the other party to the claim (claimant / defendant), witnesses, experts (including medical experts), loss adjustors, solicitors, and claims handlers.

Which of the above sources shall apply will depend on your particular circumstances.

Data Protection

We will take all appropriate technical and organisational steps to protect the confidentiality, integrity, availability and authenticity of your data, including when sharing your data both within our firm and with authorised third parties.

To ensure data privacy and protection has appropriate focus within our organisation, any communications to enact requests of Individual Rights are reportable to our Managing Director.

How The Insurance Market Works

Identities of Data Controllers and Data Processors

The insurance lifecycle involves the sharing of your personal data between insurance market participants, some of which you will not have direct contact with. In addition, your personal data may not have been collected directly by an insurance market participant. This is normal practice within the insurance industry where it is necessary to share information in order to place, quantify and underwrite risks, to assess overall risk exposure, and to process claims. It is also necessary in order to determine the premium payable and to administer our business.

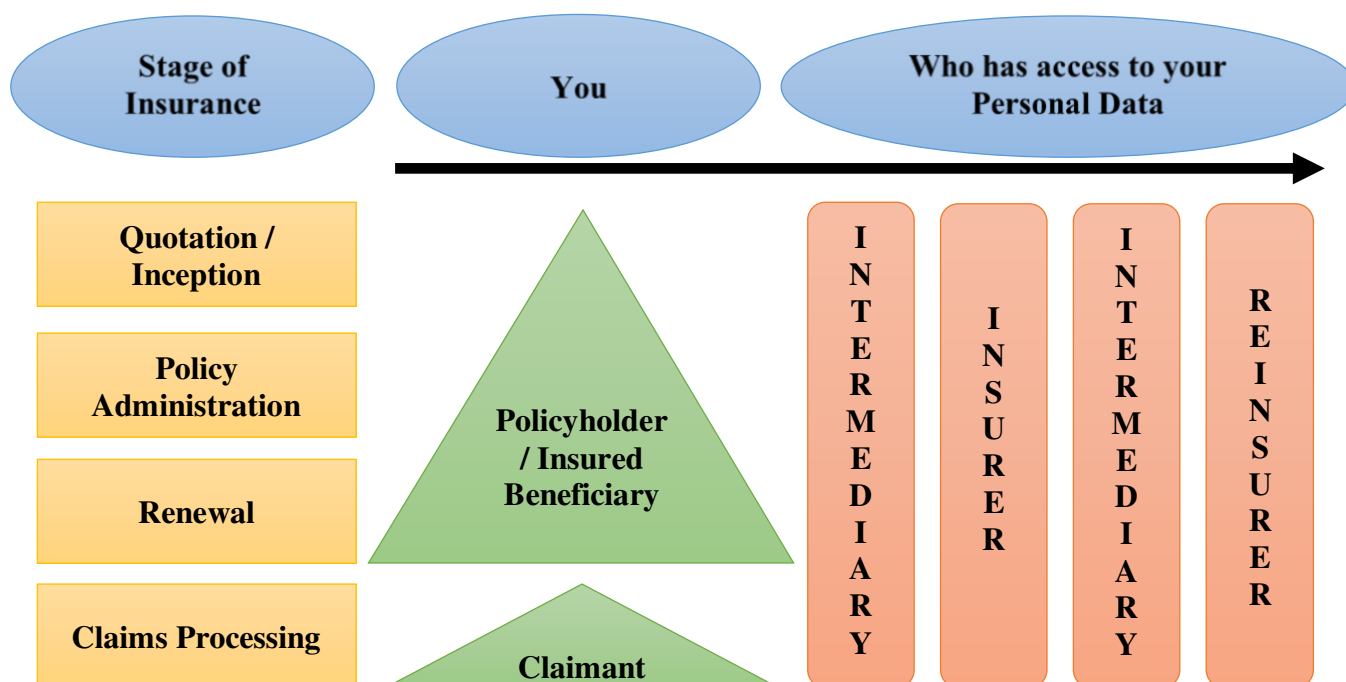

Where Hallett Independent Ltd. collects data directly from you, we are considered to be the controller of that data (i.e. a data controller). Where third parties are used to process your data, these parties are known as data processors of your personal data. Where there are other parties involved in underwriting or administering your insurance (e.g. an Insurer), they may also process your data as a joint data controller of your personal data.

Given the mechanisms by which the insurance market operates, with reinsurance often taking place after the initial policy has been underwritten and the possibility of claims payments, it is not possible to identify which insurance market participant(s) will receive the data during the insurance lifecycle. Upon request, Hallett Independent Ltd. may inform you as to which other data controllers it has disclosed any of your personal data; and if that identified third party has further disclosed your personal data then they in turn must separately address any such request.

Flows Of Personal Data Through The Insurance Lifecycle

We will share personal data with authorised third parties; where we are required to do so by law, where we need to administer our business (to quote for, source, place, and administrate your insurance), to perform underwriting activities, to process claims or handle complaints, and for the arrangement of insurance premium finance.

These authorised third parties may include; Insurers, Underwriters, Premium finance providers, Credit reference agencies, Debt recovery agencies, Claims handling companies, Loss adjusters, Surveyors, Insurance brokers, Reinsurers, and Regulators. The insurance lifecycle is depicted below:

Our Purposes, Categories, Legal Grounds And Recipients

We set out below the various purposes for which Hallett Independent Ltd. as an intermediary, and other insurance market participants, might use your personal data. Each listed Purpose below specifies the nature of activities involved, and the corresponding Categories, Legal Grounds and Recipients are as further detailed under the Personal Data Processing Table:

- Purpose: The activities under which personal data is necessary for its intended purpose.
- Categories: The type of personal data being collected and processed.
- Recipients: Whether any personal data may be disclosed to third parties or other insurance market participant(s).
- Legal Grounds: The specified legal grounds under GDPR for processing that personal data.

Purposes In Relation To Your Personal Data

Quotation / Inception:

- Setting you up as a client, including fraud, credit, anti-money laundering, and sanctions checks;
- Evaluating the risks to be covered and determining an appropriate policy and its premium;
- Collecting, refunding and transferring of premium.

Policy Administration:

- General client care, including communicating with you and the processing of updates in relation to the insurance policy;
- Collecting, refunding and transferring of premium.

Claims Processing:

- Managing insurance claims, including fraud, credit, anti-money laundering, and sanctions checks;
- Defending or prosecuting legal claims;
- Investigation or prosecuting fraud.

Renewals:

- Contacting the insured/policyholder to invite renewal of the insurance policy;
- Reevaluating the risks to be covered and determining suitability of the policy and its premium;
- Collecting, refunding and transferring of premium.

Other purposes outside of the insurance lifestyle:

- Complying with our legal or regulatory obligations;
- General risk modelling and underwriting;
- Transferring books of business, company sales & reorganisations;
- Contacting the insured/policyholder to inform or notify in respect of insurance-related news or events;
- Arranging insurance premium finance;
- Inviting contact and the offering of our services and products by means of marketing campaigns;
- Handling of complaints or general enquiries.

Please note that in addition to the disclosures we have identified against each purpose, we may also disclose personal data for those same purposes to our service providers, contractors, or agents that perform activities on our behalf.

How We Manage Consent

Hallett Independent Ltd. will obtain personal data only by lawful and fair means. If you contact us for a quote or request details on the services and products we provide, we consider these communications as forming a legitimate business interest and permission to provide you with further information about our services and activities. In purchasing our products and services you should understand that you are forming a contract with us.

In order to provide insurance cover and deal with insurance claims, in certain circumstances insurance market participants may also need to process your special categories of personal data, such as medical and criminal conviction records, as set out against the relevant purpose (refer to the Personal Data Processing Table). Where such processing may be necessary for an insurance market participant, this will be deemed necessary for the performance of our contract and for reasons of substantial public interest. This allows us to quote for and provide you with insurance products and services, to process claims and renewals, and to administer your policy.

In some situations we may request your consent to market our products and services to you, or to share and transfer your data outside the European Economic Area (EEA). Where we require explicit consent, your rights and what you are consenting to will be clearly communicated to you.

Where consent for a specified purpose is given, you may withdraw your consent to such processing at any time. However, should you withdraw your consent, this will impact upon and/or terminate our ability to provide our insurance services or process claims.

Profiling And Automatic Decision Making

When calculating insurance premiums insurance market participants may compare your personal data against industry averages. Your personal data may also be used to create industry averages going forwards. This is known as profiling and is used to ensure premiums reflect risk within the insurance market.

Profiling tools may also be used by insurance market participants to assess information you provide to understand fraud patterns. Where special categories of personal data are relevant (e.g. medical history or criminal convictions), your special categories of personal data may also be used for profiling purposes.

Insurance market participants might make some decisions based on profiling techniques without staff intervention (known as Automatic Decision Making). Insurance market participants should provide details of any automated decision making they undertake in their information notices (i.e. its purpose, the consequences, and any facility available to you to enquire or exercise your right to object to the use of profiling activities).

International Transfers

For the purposes of meeting the Data Protection Act 2018 territorial scope requirements, the United Kingdom is identified as the named territory where the processing of personal data takes place.

We may need to transfer your data to insurance market participants or their affiliates or sub-contractors which are located outside of the EEA. International transfers would always be made in compliance with the GDPR. This is necessary for the purposes of administering our business, for underwriting, and for claims processing purposes. Authorised third parties are not permitted to use your personal data for any other purpose than for what has been agreed with us. These parties are also required to safeguard your personal data through the use of appropriate technical and organisational data security measures and are prohibited from disclosing or sharing your data with other third parties without our prior authorisation, or unless required to do so by law.

Retention Of Your Personal Data

We will keep your personal data only for so long as is necessary and for the purpose for which it was collected. The retention of data is necessary where required for contractual, legal or regulatory purposes, or for our legitimate business interests in relation to statistical analysis, product development, and marketing purposes.

Owing to the nature of insurance contracts we may need to retain your personal data beyond the expiry of your insurances or termination of your relationship with us in order for us to respond to legal disputes, process claim occurrences, or as required by law and our regulatory obligations.

Where you have enquired into the details of our services and products, requested an insurance policy quotation, or have otherwise actively communicated with us, we will retain your personal data for a period of 2 years.

We will retain your personal data following the termination of our services (e.g. expiry date of the last contract of insurance arranged through and handled by us) for a period of 7 years.

Where you make a complaint, we will retain the data for 7 years.

Where you have submitted a claim, we will retain your data for a period of 7 years.

Your Rights Under GDPR

Individuals are provided with legal rights governing the use of their personal data, known as Individual Rights under the Data Protection Act 2018. Individuals can exercise their Individual Rights at any time.

Under certain conditions you may have;

- The right to be informed about your personal data we collect, store and process;
- The right of access to be aware of and to verify the personal data we hold about you;
- The right to object to the processing of your personal data based on the grounds of legitimate interests, unless our reasons for undertaking that processing outweigh any prejudice to your data protection rights;
- The right to restrict the processing of your personal data;
- The right to rectification of your personal data to update any inaccuracies of personal data held;
- The right to erasure of your personal data where we no longer have a lawful basis to use or retain;
- The right to data portability (to move, copy or transfer personal data from one IT environment to another by a safe and secure means);
- The right to withdraw consent to cease the processing of personal data whereupon explicit consent had been given;
- Rights relating to automated decision making and profiling.

In exercising your Individual Rights, you should understand that in some situations we may be unable to fully meet your request (e.g. the right to erasure may not be enforced where there are requirements to retain data for taxation, prevention of crime, or for regulatory and other statutory purposes).

In certain circumstances, we may need to restrict the exercising of Individual Rights in order to safeguard the public interest (e.g. the prevention or detection of crime) or our interests (e.g. the maintenance of legal privilege). In addition, where these interests apply, we are required by law to grant access to this data for law enforcement, legal and/or health related matters.

The flow of personal data throughout the insurance lifecycle is complex and we ask you to keep this in mind when exercising your right of access to your information. Where we may be reliant on other organisations to help satisfy your request this may impact on timescales. As mandated by law we will not charge a fee to process these requests, however if your request is considered to be repetitive, wholly unfounded and/or excessive, we are entitled to charge a reasonable administration fee.

Crucially, you must also be aware that if you object to the collection, sharing, retention or use of your personal data we may be unable to continue providing you with our products and services.

Your Right To Complain To The ICO

If you are not satisfied with our use of your personal data or our response to any request by you to exercise any of your Individual Rights as they are applicable under GDPR, or if you think that we are in breach of an aspect of the GDPR, then you have the right to complain to the UK's data protection supervisory authority, the Information Commissioner's Office (ICO).

Please see below for contact details of the ICO across the UK.

Appendix 1 – Glossary

Beneficiary	An individual or a company that an insurance policy states may receive a payment under the insurance policy if an insured event occurs. A beneficiary does not have to be the insured/policyholder and there may be more than one beneficiary under an insurance policy .
Claimant	Either a beneficiary who is making a claim under an insurance policy or an individual or a company who is making a claim against a beneficiary where that claim is covered by the insurance policy .
Claims processing	The process of handling a claim that is made under an insurance policy .
Data Controller	The individual or organisation which, alone or jointly with others, determines the purposes and means of the processing of personal data .
Data Processor	The individual or organisation which processes personal data on behalf of the controller.
Quotation	The process of providing a quote to a potential insured/policyholder for an insurance policy .
Inception	The specified date and time upon which an insurance policy starts.
Individual Rights	Individuals are provided with legal rights governing the use of their personal data, known as Individual Rights, which they may exercise at any time. Further details may be found on the ICO website: https://ico.org.uk/for-the-public/
Insurance	The pooling and transfer of risk in order to provide financial protection against a possible eventuality. There are many types of insurance. The expression insurance may also mean reinsurance.
Insurance policy	A contract of insurance between the insurer and the insured/policyholder .
Insurance market participant(s) or participants	An intermediary , insurer or reinsurer .
Insured / Policyholder	The individual or company in whose name the insurance policy is issued. A potential insured/policyholder may approach an intermediary to purchase an insurance policy or they may approach an insurer directly or via a price comparison website.
Insurers	Often referred to in the context of the term ‘underwriters’, an insurer provides insurance cover to insured/policyholders in return for premium . An insurer may also be a reinsurer .
Intermediary	Also typically known as brokers, insurance intermediaries assist policyholders and insurers in arranging insurance cover. They may offer advice and handle claims. Many insurance and reinsurance policies are obtained through intermediaries.
Legal obligation	Processing deemed necessary for our compliance with a legal obligation to which we are subject.
Legitimate interests	Described activates whereby processing is necessary for the purposes of the legitimate interests pursued by us or by a third party, except where such interests are overridden by you fundamental rights and freedoms which require protection of personal information.
Performance of contract	Processing deemed necessary for the performance of a contract to which you are party to, or in order to undertake steps at your request prior to entering into a contract.

Personal Data	Any information (including opinions and intentions) which relates to an identified or Identifiable Natural Person.
Policy administration	The process of administering and managing an insurance policy following its inception .
Premium	The amount of money to be paid by the insured/policyholder to the insurer in the insurance policy .
Reinsurers	Provide insurance cover to another insurer or reinsurer. That insurance is known as reinsurance, and is arranged without the knowledge of the insured/policyholder holding that insurance policy .
Renewal	The process of the insurer under an insurance policy providing a quotation to the insured/policyholder for a new insurance policy to replace the existing one on its expiry.

Appendix 3 – Our Legal Grounds

LEGAL GROUNDS	DETAILS
FOR PROCESSING PERSONAL DATA AND SPECIAL CATEGORIES OF PERSONAL DATA
Performance of contract	Processing is necessary for the performance of a contract to which you are party or in order to take steps at your request prior to entering into a contract.
Compliance with a legal obligation	Processing is necessary for compliance with a legal obligation to which we are subject.
Protection of vital interests of you or another person	Processing is necessary in order to protect the vital interests of you or of another natural person.
In the public interest	Processing is necessary for the performance of a task carried out in the public interest.
For our legitimate business interests	Processing is necessary for the purposes of the legitimate interests pursued by us or by a third party, except where such interests are overridden by your interests or fundamental rights and freedoms which require protection of personal data, in particular where you are a child. These legitimate interests are set out next to each purpose.
FOR PROCESSING SPECIAL CATEGORIES OF PERSONAL DATA
Your explicit consent (optional)	You have given your explicit consent to the processing of those personal data for one or more specified purposes. You are free to withdraw your consent by contacting our Data Protection Contact.
Your explicit consent (necessary)	You have given your explicit consent to the processing of those personal data for one or more specified purposes, where we are unable to procure, provide or administer insurance cover without this consent. You are free to withdraw your consent by contacting our Data Protection Contact. However withdrawal of this consent will impact upon and/or terminate our ability to provide insurance or pay claims.
Protection of vital interests of you or another person, where you are unable to consent	Processing is necessary to protect the vital interests of you or of another natural person where you are physically or legally incapable of giving consent.
For legal claims	Processing is necessary for the establishment, exercise or defence of legal claims or whenever courts are acting in their judicial capacity.
In the substantial public interest	Processing is necessary for reasons of substantial public interest, on the basis of EU or UK law.
For health services	Processing is necessary for the purposes of preventive or occupational medicine, for medical diagnosis, the provision of health or social care or treatment on the basis of EU or UK law or pursuant to contract with a health professional who is under legal or professional obligations of secrecy.
